Transportation, good times, athletics, education, expressions and friends have a major role to play in our world at North High School. Transportation...getting to and from school. Good Times... shared with fellow students. Athletics... enjoyed as a spectator or by participation. Expressions... of happiness, sadness, gratitude, victory and defeat. Friends... making new ones and keeping the old. For each of us at least one of these things has an effect on our lives at North High School.

OFFICIAL

Transportation

. . .getting to and from school.

"My car is my everything. It's what I work for." This statement reflects some students feelings that their car is more than just a way of getting around. To these students it's how their car looks and sounds that is important to them.

Repairs and putting gas in a car every week can be expensive. Those students who can't afford a car resort to walking, riding the bus or riding their bikes to school.

Getting around in our world takes money, perseverance and often stamina. North High students often combine several ways of transportation during a day just to get to school. Whether it's in their own cars or on their own feet, student transportation is a necessity for getting to our North High world.

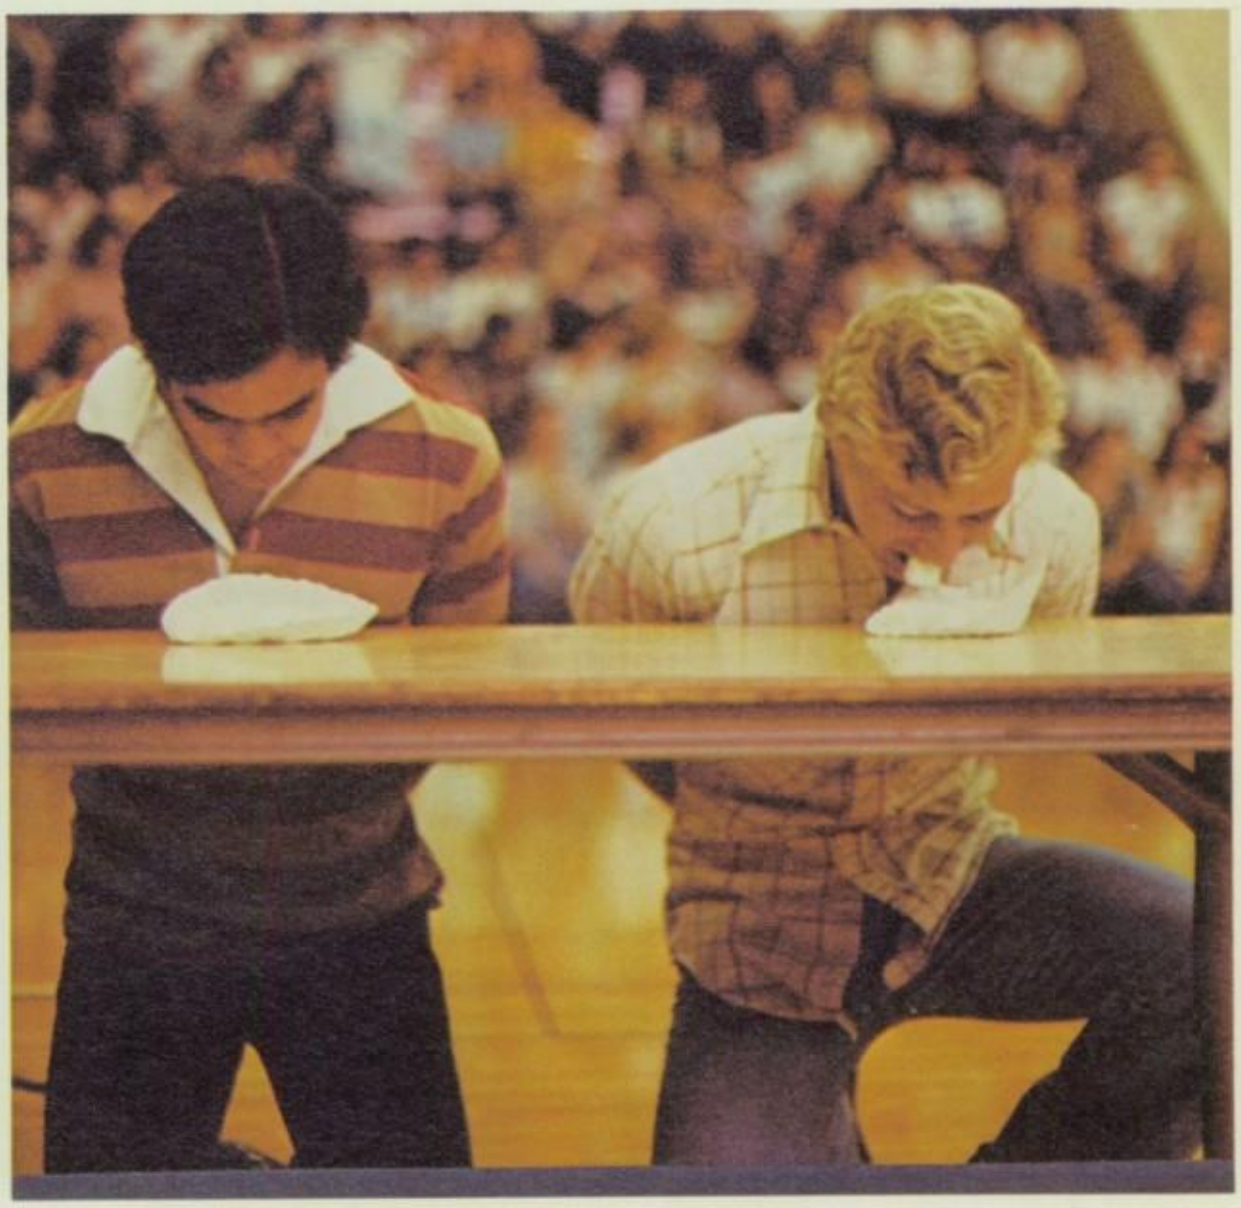
Good Times

...shared with fellow students.

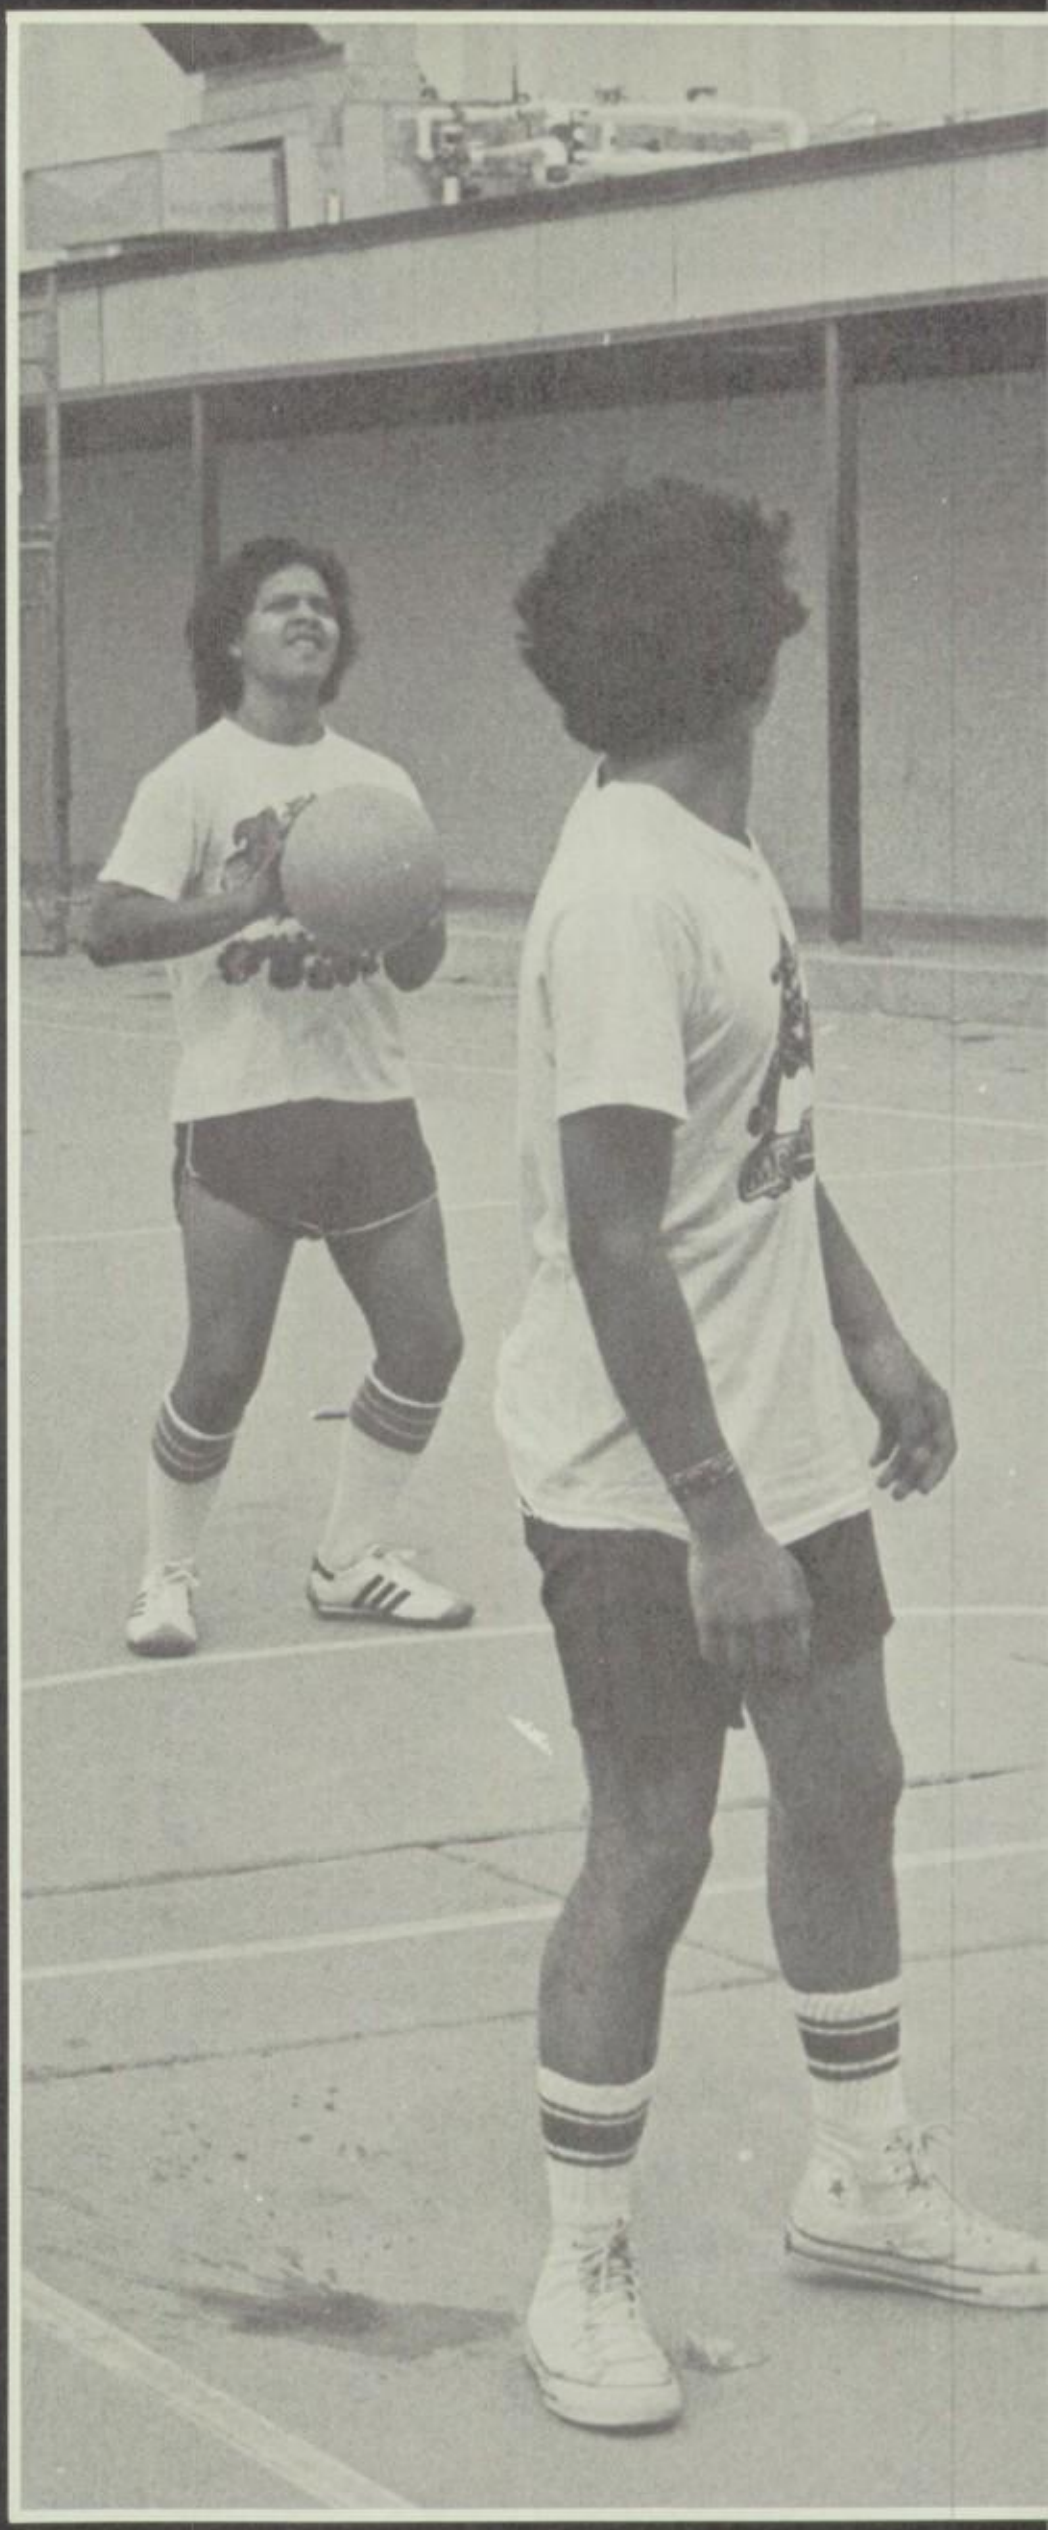
Hard work, studying, homework, after school practices and part-time jobs-these are all part of a student's day at North. It's easy to wonder if all the hard work is worth it. Surviving a rough day is not always easy, but most realize that after the work is done there is time to enjoy things we like to do.

For some students it's cruisin' Central or cheering at our athletic events that means good times. Others find going to dances, watching television and just going out with friends ways to spend leisure hours. Looking back on our high school years, the good times we've shared will be important memories.



Up until recent months, I had always thought I'd fall to pieces before the world did, but it's beginning to look as if it may be a dead heat.

Annonymous



. . . enjoyed as a spectator or by participation.

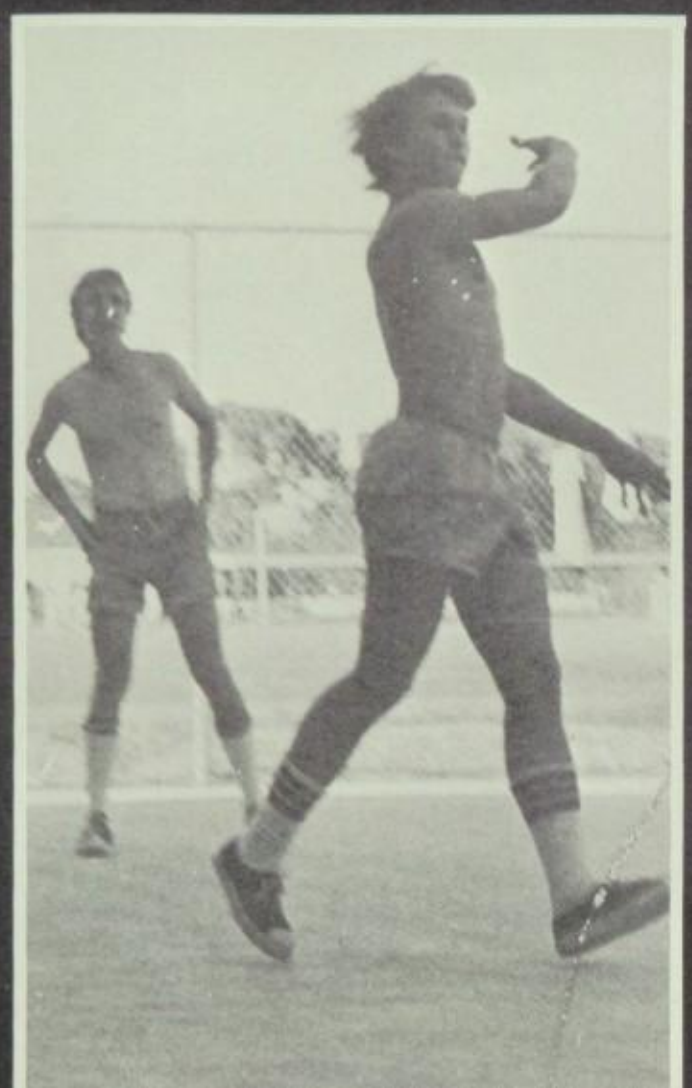
Training, conditioning, enduring the pain of tired, overworked muscles, long hours of hard work and practices are the things a person puts into being an athlete. For some being good in a certain sport comes naturally. For others it takes some extra work and practice to be good.

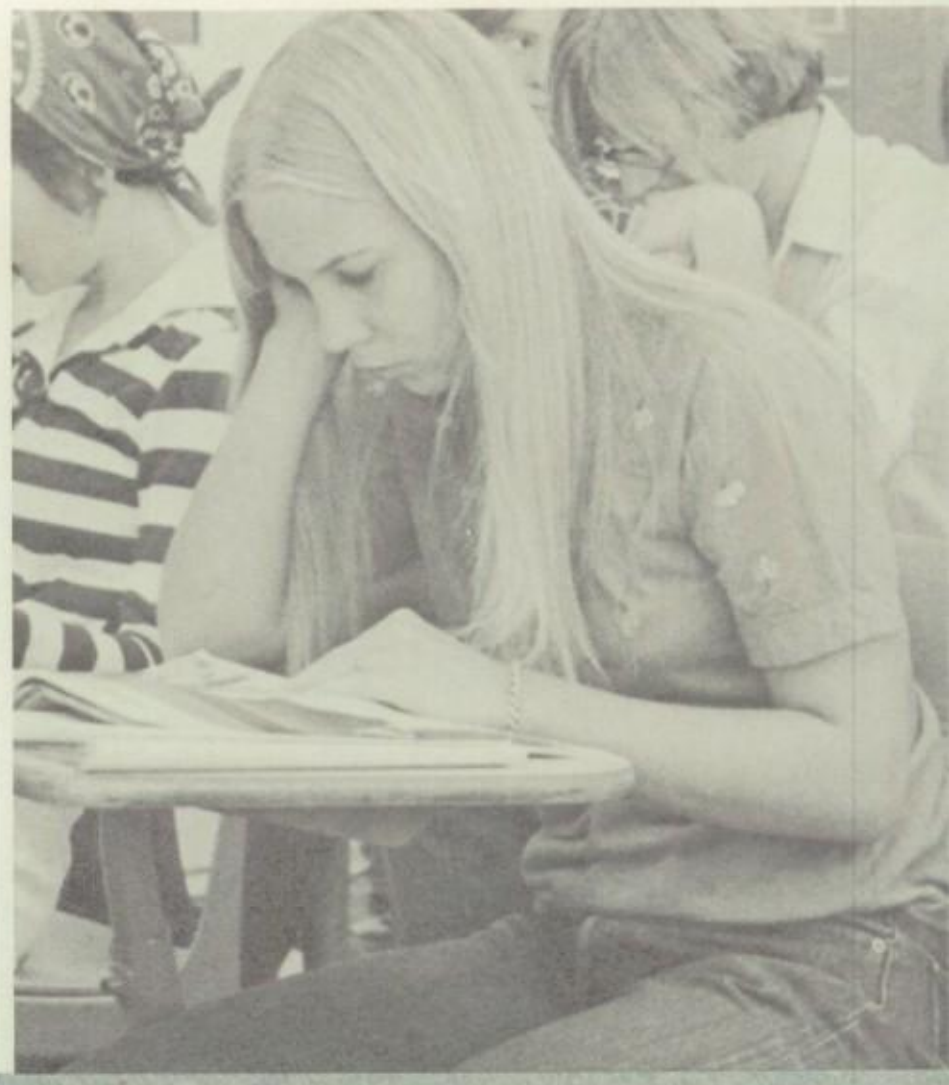
It doesn't matter if it comes naturally or not, the goal of most athletes is the same. Their goal is to do their best and to win. When an athlete doesn't win he looks for the mistakes he made and tries to correct them in hopes of winning the next time.

Anticipation, cheering, excitement, anxiety and strained vocal cords are the signs of an enthusiastic fan. He supports that team when they lose as well as when they win. Dedicated Mustang fans give North High athletes a reason to be determined to win.

The combination of the efforts of the athletes and the enthusiasm of the fan make sports events an important part of our high school world. One athlete summed up the feeling. "You work hard all week long then do well, it's all worth it."

Athletics- in Our World





Education is man...Education is life...It has it's beginning in such humble settings as North High School. It has it's future in the realms of the unknown, the undiscovered destiny of tomorrow...Education is time itself.

However, what we will remember from our formal education will be the friends we made and the knowledge we acquire. And yet this schooling is the foundation for our social and cultural background.

In any case, the knowledge we gain in the future will inspire and direct us through the rest of our lives. And certainly, our store of wisdom, whether it is gained from books or our association with others, will mold our future lives.

It is a thousand times better to have common sense without education than to have education without common sense.

Robert G. Ingersoll

Education

I sit alone and cry,
I know not why.
Uncontrollably my tears flow.
I wish I could erase
this sadness from my face.
It was once said,
"Things can't get any worse."
But with each day
this sadness I feel seems to grow.
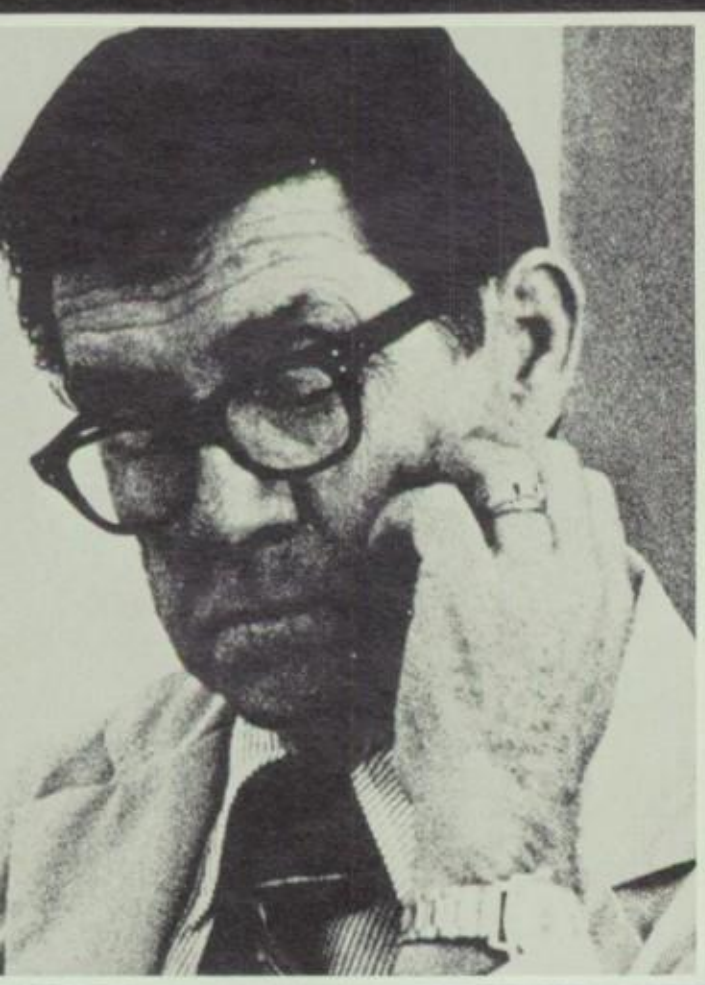
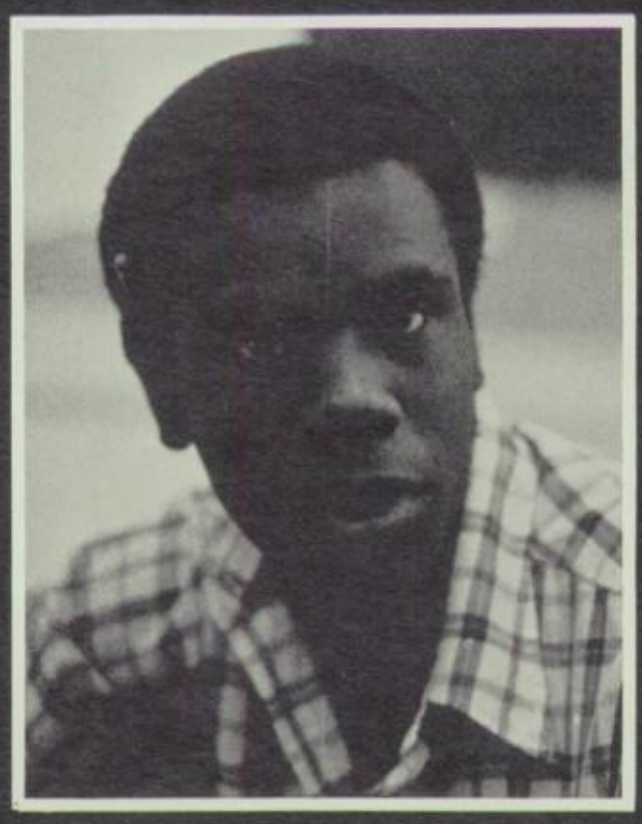
Tell me. . .
does it show?

Expressions. . . reflect happiness, sadness, gratitude, victory and defeat

Expressions





Friends

...making new ones, keeping the old.

In our world making friends isn't easy. Most new students come to North High School with few friends. They may come from different grade schools, maybe they are from out of state or from another high school. Making the change from familiar surroundings to a new school with different people and a completely new routine is always difficult.

Exposure to so many different people gives a person a good chance to find someone to share thoughts and feelings with, someone to confide in and lean on when things get tough.

The first year at North most of us concentrate on finding, testing and perfecting friendships. The next three years are spent meeting more people and making old friendships stronger. Our last year we can look back on those friendships with a feeling of accomplishment and satisfaction.

College Included in Seniors' Future Plans

There are many new experiences and opportunities in store for the class of '77 after graduation. Many seniors know exactly what they want to achieve in the future. "I plan to go to NAU to study journalism. I also hope to compete on their newly organized tennis team," explained Rochelle Arnos.

There are some Seniors that aren't quite sure about their plans. Francine Reynolds replied, "I'm still not positive but I hope to go to Phoenix College."

Mid-Year Grads Get Headstart

In the class of '77 there were 29 mid-year graduates. There are a lot of reasons for graduating at the semester. "I want to work so I can go to Phoenix College next fall," stated Darlene Gilbreth.

Other students thought January graduation would give them a headstart at their chosen University.

Although leaving early, most mid-year grads will return to North for the graduation ceremony on June 9.

North Produces News

The twentieth century has finally hit North High in the form of television. The English classes have been treated to the North High News.

The weekly program featured highlights of the events taking place on our campus during the previous week and includes such things as random on the spot interviews by North High's roving reporter Jay Evensen.

The program was put on by Mr. Ferris third hour Communications and Mass Media class, and the technical work was done by Mr. Frison and his T. V. production crew.

According to Mr. Ferris, reaction to the program so far has been good. "I don't know if it will replace the school newspaper, but the students are very attentive and seem to really enjoy it," he said.

The program's popularity on campus also made some impression on the rest of the city. KTAR, Channel 12 in Phoenix, featured the campus news show on their 6:00 p.m. newscast.

As the last bell rings, students rush to the parking lot to go home, or who knows where. The North High parking lot is filled with just about every kind of car you can think of. Torinos, Chevys, Dodges, and Volkswagons all crowd in TRYING to find a small spot of blacktop to call their own.

Fourth and fifth lunch hours are times when the parking lot is really crowded. Students head to McDonalds, Dairy Queen, or even to places like Arthur Treacher's Fish and Chips.

Nearly anytime of the day you can find people out in the parking lot. Whether they're talking with friends of just sitting in their cars listening to the radio, there is usually someone there.

On North High's campus there was another newspaper writer among us besides the people who were on the Mustang Round-up. Her name was Twyla Myles; she was North High's Teen Gazette Correspondent. The Teen Gazette comes out in the evening paper on Saturday.

This was a whole new experience for Twyla. She had not had any previous writing experience, but she enjoyed her work.

She talked to Mrs. Pennebaker to become the correspondent. She was paid 75¢ per column inch for all material that was printed in the paper and $6.00 when she was asked to do surveys. She was our correspondent until June.

On December 22, there was a workshop in which all the correspondents met to discuss ways to improve their writing abilities. The workshop gave all the correspondents a chance to get acquainted.

Twyla picked her own topics. Among others, she did a stories on the Junior Miss Pageant, a new sewing class, and the attendance policy.

Twyla plans to go to college and hopes to major in Journalism. -by Joanne Donan

Student Numbers Know All, Tell All

Many a student complains, "High School makes you feel so insignificant. As far as they're concerned, I'm just a number."

For those people who have supposed that student numbers were just randomly handed out with no particular reason or pattern involved, look again.

A student's number reveals all sorts of facts about him/her, his/her past, and his/her future.

The first numeral of a student number tells what year that student is scheduled to graduate. Students whose numbers begin with 8, for example, should graduate in '78.

Want to know what school in our district a new student is from? Look at the second number for that answer. Every school in the district has its own code number (2 is North).

The last numeral reveals a student's sex - odd for guys, even for girls.

Now, perhaps students will think twice before complaining that high school takes away their identity.

Just a number? Ha!

To Buy Or Not to Buy a Class Ring

Students at North usually purchase their class rings during their junior year. Class rings are bought because of tradition and als as a souvenir of their high school days.

Kathy Hepting said, "I bought a class rin to remember North."

There are also many reasons why people don't buy rings. Janet Stallings explained one of her reasons, "I didn't buy one because I had other things to do with my money."

AVC in Program

Some students are enrolled in a few classes at North, and then they go to Phoenix Union for a half day for vocational training.

A student must be a Junior, Senior, or at least 16 years old to be eligible to participate in the vocational training program. Classes at the Area Vocational Center at Phoenix Union last $2\frac{1}{2}$ hours each day, and the students receive three credits per year for the class. Free bus transportation to and from the AVC is available.

There are about 70 to 75 dual registered students at North.

"I think it's a good idea because you get to meet people from different schools. The classes at AVC are more advanced. There is a more relaxed situation," explained Sherry Baxter.

Fads & Fashions in Our World

This year North High undoubtedly had fashion changes. For most people, especially guys, it was straight leg Levis and Rugbies. For girls, Gaucho pants with various shades of brown leather boots were in. To top off these pants, blazers and vests were worn with scarfs to add a "touch of class."

The double-pierced ear was another look which made for various designs of loops and studs as shown by Diane Gonzalez.

There were many shoe styles this year. One style was the Famolare brand with the curves and bumps which, as one Senior girl put it, "It's the most comfortable shoe I have ever worn."

Another style, in addition to the Gaucho pants, was the jumpsuit in various styles of cordouroy or cotton.

As long as fashion trends keep changing, undoubtedly North High will be number one in following them.

Florence Ran 'til It Hurt

Although he is only a sophomore, Harry Florence is already the number two man on the cross country team.

Florence had an outstanding year as a freshman. He won the freshman city cross country championship by almost 300 yards, was the frosh city champion in both the mile and two mile, and lettered in varsity cross country.

As a soph, Harry took third in the Division and placed 32nd out of 160 at State.

When Coach Tate was asked about his new star, he replied, "With some physical maturity and a little more work, he's going to be great. Imagine what he is going to do when he's a senior!"

Harry set his goals for the season. "You have to make it hurt in a race if you want to win. It's not easy, but I enjoy what I do."

Tee Shirts Shouted

Levis, boots, body jewelry and vests were the "in" thing to be sporting. But this year the T-shirt was the fashionable accessory to have in one's wardrobe. Not just an ordinary T-shirt --but one that proclaimed to the world your name, your status in society or your favorite pastime.

"I'm single, ""His,""Love me, Hug me, Squeeze me,""I need lovin,""Hers," Foxy Lady," and "Taken" are just a few of the statements students with romantic inclinations wore.

Students with "stars" in their eyes prodly show off "Barbarino,""Fonzie's girl,""Roger Daltrey,""Kiss,""The Who,""Chicago," and "Sweathog" tee shirts.

Faithful followers of the zodiac were in abundance on campus. "Aquarius,""Taurus", "Aries,""Sagittarius," and "Scorpio" were just a few ot the twelve signs seen on students.

Probably the most common messages seen were those that gave advice or stated facts."Do unto others then split," Italians make better lovers,""Slippers when set,""Community Chest," "Do it in the Dirt,""I'm with Stupid," "Paper T-Shirt,""Fragile, Handle with Care," "I am delicious," and "I'd rather be sewing." by Alyce Sadongei

76-77 Movies Range From Horror to Comedy

Students in 1977 seemed to have an unsatisfied inner desire for blood, gore, and disaster rather than love and romance judging from the movies they attended and the books they read.

Among the most popular movies were "Two Minute Warning", the story of a mad sniper who sits atop the scoreboard at the Los Angeles Coliseum and takes pot shots at the 91,000 unsuspecting football fans; "King Kong", a remake of the imaginative story of a huge monkey who terrorizes New York; and "Jaws", the popular story of a giant shark who rips innocent swimmers into bloody shreads, among other similarly gruesom films.

The one exception to the gory trend was "A Star Is Born". Much of this love story starring Barbara Streisand and Kris Kristopherson was filmed in Phoenix.

In June 1972, the Congress passed Title IX of the Education Amendments, a law which affects virtually every educational institution in the country. The law prohibits discrimination by sex in educational programs that receive Federal money.

In addition to finding flaws in course descriptions and class names, such as Freshman, each department, club, and organization underwent a self evaluation.

Educationally speaking, Mrs. Beuchel felt that it is important to get to the point where all students can be educated and receive the same instruction. "Students should be able to reach their highest potential regardless of sex."

Letters on the stadium wall proclaiming to the world that North is the "Home of the Mustangs", redecorating of the varsity football locker room with carpeting and red and blue paint on the walls were all a part of coach Steve Zieders' campaign to help rebuild pride in the North High campus.

The money for this project was donated in part by Jerry Smith, a pro football player with the Washington Redskins and the North High Letter club.

Coach Zieders and Coach Scott say they designed these changes not only for the football team, but for the entire student body to take pride in identifying with North High.

In the words of Coach Zieders, "This is the beginning of a new era for North High."

Adjusting to a high school routine can be traumatic for some Freshmen. At North there is a wide selection of courses to choose from and the campus is spread out making it difficult for Freshmen to find their classes the first day of school. Jayne Johnson agreed, "The big adjustment here at North was finding my classes and choosing the courses I wanted to take."

Getting lost, seeing new faces, climbing those awful stairs all day long and actually being assigned homework are some of the things a Freshman must learn to cope with at North. "I have more homework now. In grade school, I seldom had homework," complained Janet Scharbach.

The fun and festivities of Spirit Week began on Monday with a Tug-O-War contest and continued on through the week with such activities as the Pyramid Building, Egg-throwing, Ice-cream eating contests, Styling Day, and Hat Day. The not-to-be-forgotten Pie Auction was held on Thursday with members of Student Exec as the victims. Activities concluded on Friday with Nostalgia Day.

The Sophomore class accumulated the most points, therefore, winning Spirit Week and becoming the Class of the Year for 1976.

Coach Steve Zeiders called his first year with the North High Mustangs "An experience that took hard work." The Mustangs hosted Sunnyslope in the season opener.

"The team has a lot of potential." This was an advantage that the varsity team members had while playing in their '76-'77 season. Seniors that Steve Zeiders recommends to go on to college football are Joe Taylor, John Lawrence, Charlie Jones, and Dan Martinez.

"It's a decision and goal the men have to make themselves", stated Coach Zeiders.

Young Team Ran Fast

After losing only one runner from last year's 8-2, tenth rated team, the Mustang cross-country team returned as one of the strongest teams in the state.

Returning as the number one man was senior Frank Switzer. Last year, Switzer was all-division in cross-country and all-state in track with a 4:18.1 mile.

The number two man was sophomore Harry Florence. He was the city champion in cross-country, the mile and the two mile for freshmen last year.

The dynamic duo, Steve and Stanley Sam battled it out for the third and fourth spots. Both have been running varsity since their Frosh year.

Fifth spot was held down by sophomore Frank Romero. Romero placed third in the Frosh city championship in cross-country last year.

Ray Valero, one of the top freshmen in the state, and sophomore Frank Ortiz round out the rather young Mustang squad.

Former A.S.U. standout Don Tate coached the harriers for the second year.

Girls X-Country Gain Experience

With only one junior and the rest Sophomores- and Freshmen, this year's girls squad was one of the youngest in the state. It was termed a rebuilding year, but with hard work and determination, they improved steadily from week to week. Sophomores Kris Frakes and Sandy Crowley were the top runners and the coach was Jim Hatfield. The team, due to their youth, should be strong in years to come.

Due to the early start of the season, the Boys' team forfeited 5 games because the team was still to be organized.

Horcasitas Heads Varsity Team

The Mustangs, under the supervision of the new Head Coach Al Horcasitas, changed its outlook and outcome from the last few seasons. In the past the Mustangs mainly pressed offense, but this year they pressed defense as well as offense.

Joe Taylor with his quickness and shooting ability, along with Herbert Hall's jumping ability, proved to be strong assets to this year's team.

The well improved Mustangs finished the season with 5 wins and 16 losses.

Next year's team has a lot of potential with 6 returning, 3 of which hold starting positions with this year's 76-77 Mustangs.

It was a long and exasperating season for the 13 girls who made up the Varsity Softball Team. Under the leadership of a new coach, Mrs. Wagner, the girls' morales and spirit was kept up throughout the games. The girls worked hard, not only at the games, but at practice as well. The team was plagued with various injuries during the season which left the team never quite complete. The group was provided with new uniforms and jackets for the '77 season.

Besides the ability to play softball, the girls were better able to understand the meanings of morale, spirit, and being a team.

House of Representatives . . .the Students' Choice

The house of Representatives is a group of students made up of chosen club Pres., class Vice-Pres., and class representatives. In charge of this club was Student Body Vice Pres. Tom Rader, and in his absence, Pres. Pro Temp. Rochelle Arnos. This year the club discussed ways to improve North High as a whole. They passed requisitions for different organizations, help work on the Fiesta Bowl Float, and decided whether North High would be wise in having an Honor Court system like they have had in the past. The students would be in charge of other students who would otherwise be sent to an Administrator's office for misconduct. The House of Reps. met every week alternating Tuesday and Wednesday, second and third periods. This year's sponsors were Mr. McClean and Mr. Stuart.

This year the Student Body Officers worked hard to promote much of the school's activities such as pep rallies, pep assemblies, spirit week, and much of the Homecoming activities. The Exec. Committee, for the first time, also sponsored the Christmas Dance which was held at Del Webb's Townehouse.

Twirlers Add Spark

North High Twirlers have brought spirit to North this year with 5 new girls and one returning. Debbie Adams, who has been a twirler for four years, served as captain for the line.

In order to improve their style, and represent North to the fullest, the Twirlers went to the Camp of Champs at NAU where they captured 31 first place ribbons. Captain Debbie Adams received a superior rating in solo, and Debbie Knight got an excellent rating in solo.

The group also won a Spirit Stick and was nominated for the district award for a twirling line.

The Kachina doll is awarded to the all around outstanding cheer squad in the entire camp that shows the spirit of the Kachina. The cheer line won 3 superior, 1 excellent, and 1 outstanding ribbons.

Along with the poms, the cheers sold stationery, bagels, and candy canes at Christmas.

The cheers practiced throughout the summer every morning at 6:30. They practice every day after school making up cheers and mounts for Friday's game.

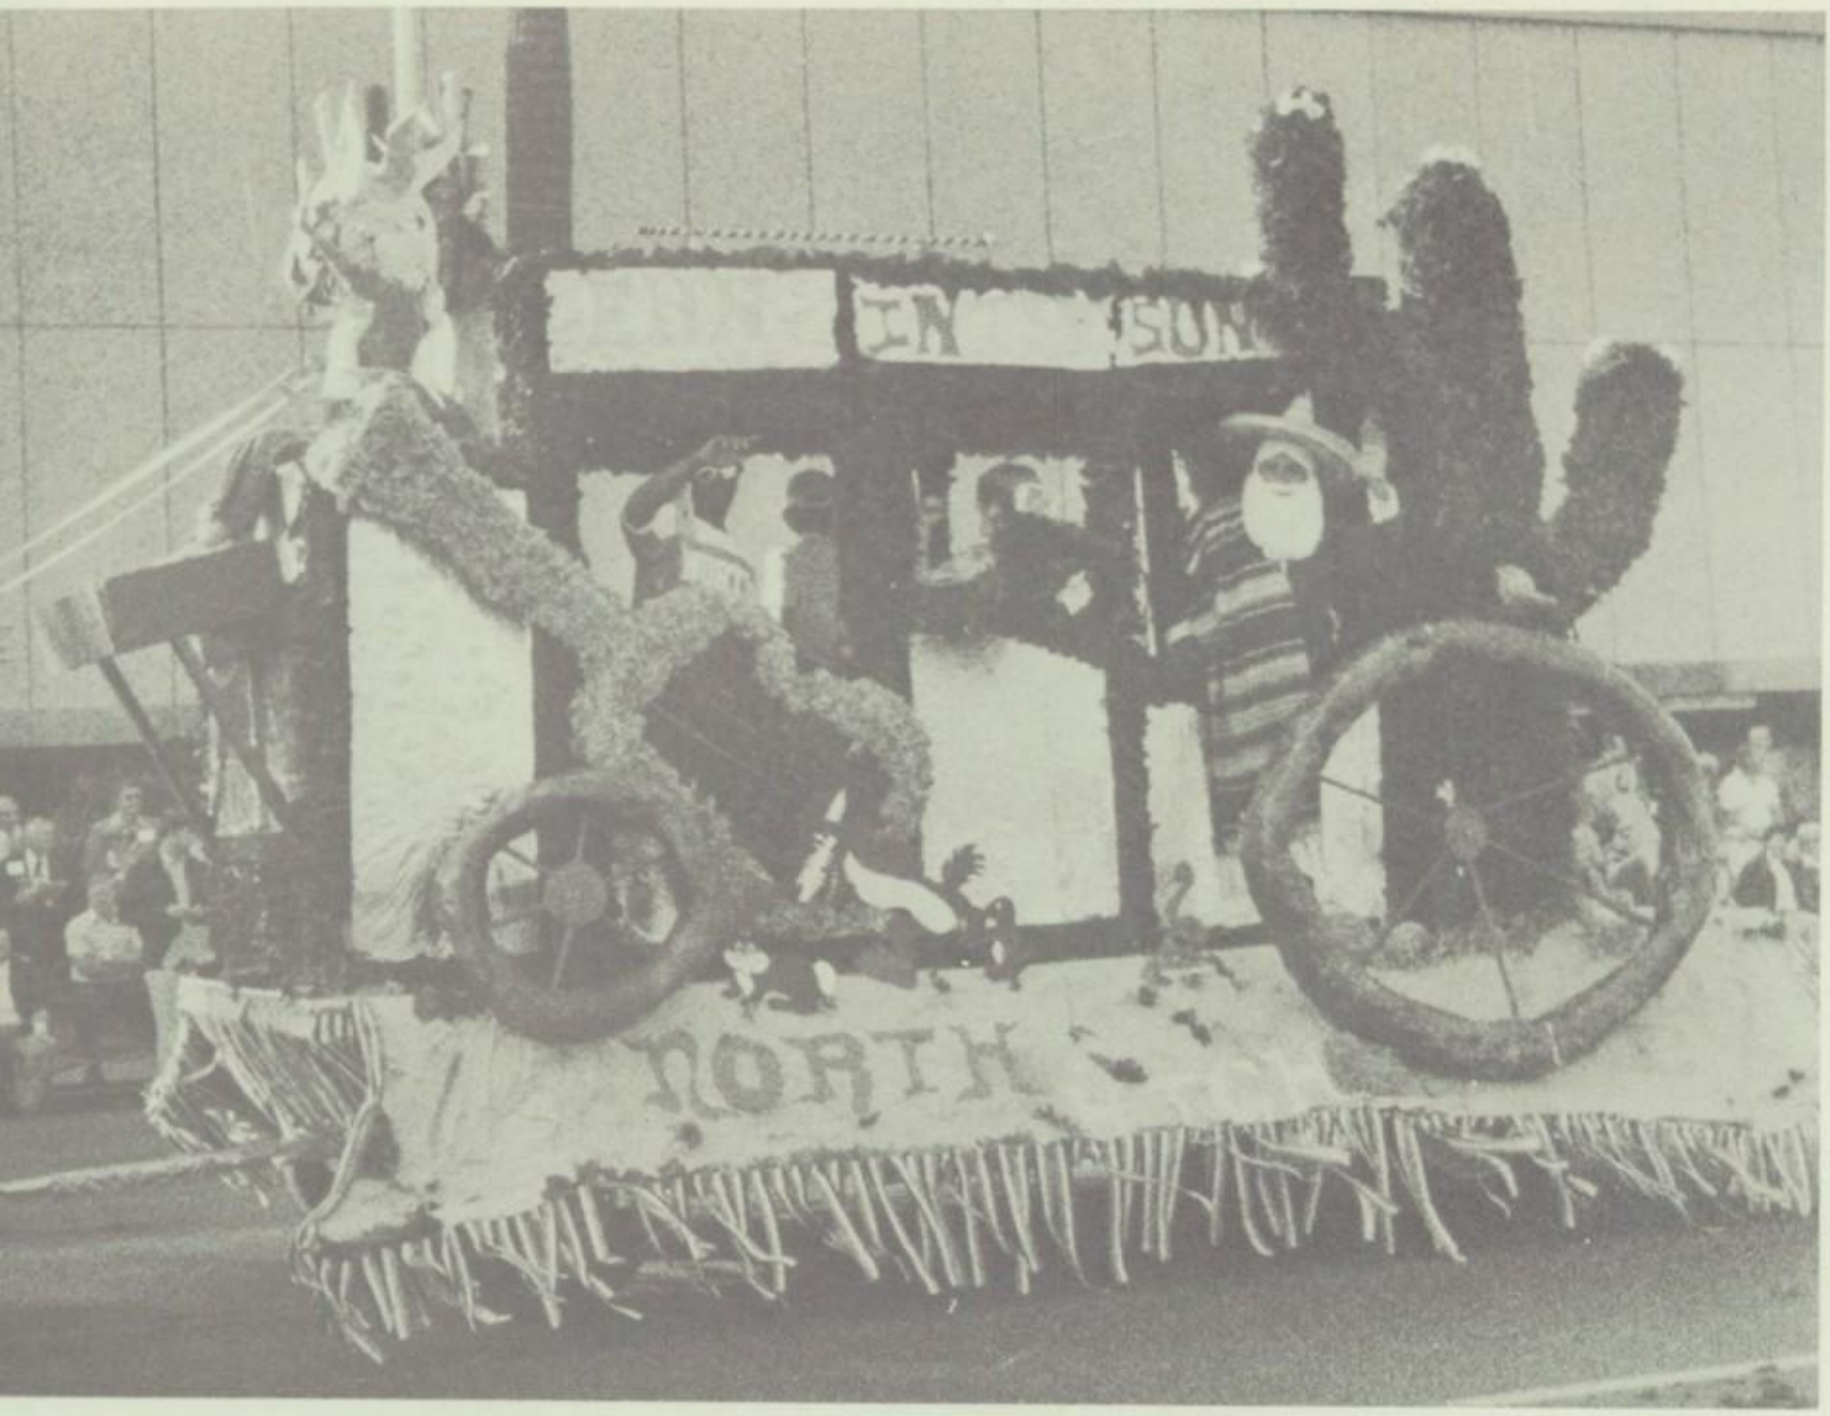
Assemblies Promote Spirit

Many times assemblies broke the montony of a school day. The purpose of assemblies was to raise spirit on campus. The poms and cheers performed various skits throughout the year and the Madrigals sang at the Christmas assembly.

The assemblies always raised the morales of the athletes. The Softball/ Christmas assembly was the first of it's kind at North. The softball team was introduced during the assembly, and there was a new beginning for girl's sports.



NHS Christmas

This year's Christmas season was a busy one for North High students. HERO spent hours building a ginger bread house, and donated it to the Phoenix Art Museum to be auctioned off.

At the Christmas assembly the poms and cheers performed as usual, the madrigals sang Christmas songs, and even Santa Clause put in an appearance.

Although off to a slow start, student spirit came through as North High's entry float in the Fiesta Bowl Parade took first place in the humorous catagory, and second place in theme. The Mustang Band also represented North in the parade.

Perhaps many of the students and faculty here at North could identify with this idea of the Christmas season. "I'll be spending a typical American Christmas. My tree is from Canada, the ornaments from Hong Kong. The lights come from Japan-and the idea from Bethleham."--Robert Orben

Students, on the Job

This year many North High students had part-time jobs. Most were in the different coop programs of DECA, VICA, HERO, and ICE. Jobs varied from fast-food services of Macdonald's and Jack-in-the-Box, to Fabric Shops, supermarkets, and Dairy Queen's. Some jobs took on a different perspective. Janet Cook, one of North High's Seniors, worked developing pictures for Post Haste Print. Lee Ann Foley, a Senior in ICE, worked in the Pathology lab at St. Josephs Hospital. Jerry Brown had a unique job at "Wash World" washing diesel Trucks. Throughout these times of inflation and the high cost of living many of our students prove to be on top of the job market in earning their own funds for whatever their interests are.

Munchies

North High is a world full of MUNCHIES. Students were seen munching during the lunch hours and after school as well as during the football games, parties, and between classes.

Potato chips, hamburgers, malts, and candy were popular among North High students this year. These snacks were bought by students from the snack bar, class and club representatives, and eating places around campus.

The staff of the Mustang Roundup consisted of Jay Evensen, Joanne Donan, Linda Martinez, Frank Switzer, Jenny Lay, Editor Alyce Sadongei, and advisor Ms. Fields.

Meeting at 4th hour in S-18 the staff produced and proofed copy, wrote and rewrote stories, and called and connived for ads.

Although the staff was relatively small, they managed to cover a wide diversity of events occuring on the North High Campus.

Work, Deadlines Go Together

Eight returning staffers and ten new members began working on the 1976-77 Hoofbeats with new thoughts and ideas.

Contributing new ideas that were collected from the yearbook AIPA workshop held in Flagstaff during the summer were Editor Ruth Ann Scott and Head Photographer Henry Yee.

Ten staffers also attended the fall AIPA convention held at Shadow Mountain High School. The convention, a one day workshop, tried to give students new ideas for both yearbook and newspaper. "We didn't get much out of the classes because it was so disorganized and the food was rotten," stated Associate Editor Kandy Syrkel.

Many long hours were spent in S-18 and trying to get into S-18 during the summer, afternoons, and weekends.

Honor Clubs Support Education

North High's two academically oriented clubs, Parnassus and National Honor Society, started early in the year with various group activities.

Parnassus started their fund raising campaign with a bagel sale. Other activities of the club included an annual banquet where letters, pins, and guards are received by members on the basis of senority. Bake sales were also held throughout the year. Money raised was used for a scholarship given to a deserving senior member of Parnassus. This year's Parnassus officers were Joyce Flores-President, David Weiss-Vice-President, Rachel Turany-Secretary, and Devry Faddis-Treasurer.

National Honor Society is based on the concepts of Scholarship, Leadership, Citizenship, Service and Character. The club raised over $30.00 in a two day booksale held in November. National Honor Society officers are Susan Steele-President, Joyce Flores-Vice-President, and Gloria Cota-Secretary Treasurer. The club also gives a scholarship to a Senior member.

North Pursues the American Dream

In the past, construction of class floats were a part of North's celebration of homecoming. This year North High faculty, students and alumni winessed a slightly different halftime ceremony. A balloon burst replaced the traditional float competition. The balloon burst consisted of large cardboard boxes, brightly decorated, filled with helium balloons. At halftime the balloons were set free.

Staying with tradition, the teacher of the year was announced as being Mr. Bruce Trexler. Mr. Trexler was also the 1975 teacher of the year. Homecoming Queen of 1975-76, Molly Ryan was on hand to crown this year's King Raul Espericueta and Queen Sylvia Dorame. The homecoming dance was held in the gym following the game.

Belluzzi Remembers

"I remember when classes were two hours long . . ."

Auto Mechanics teacher Bert Belluzzi reminisced about his past 30 years at North while he cleaned out his shop in preparation for his retirement at the end of this year.

In 1947, Mr. Belluzzi joined the North High faculty to teach woodshop and auto mechanics.

Since then, his activities have included sponsoring the Cheers, Hi-Y Club, Key Club, and the Frosh through Senior classes. He coached Frosh Football for five years and J.V. Baseball for two. As the Assistant Coach for the first girls' track team, Mr. Belluzzi coached the discus and shot put athletes.

After 30 active years of teaching and working with students, Mr. Belluzzi is looking forward to trips to his cabin in Prescott and to fishing and golfing with friends.

New Programs Offered in Special Ed

Federal, State and local funding have long provided special education for those students who needed special help to become self sufficient or to function better in the regular classrooms.

This year, the Special Ed department was expanded to give more assistance to the gifted students on our campus. Gifted classes were held in both Math and Music for those students showing exceptional aptitude and intelligence in these areas.

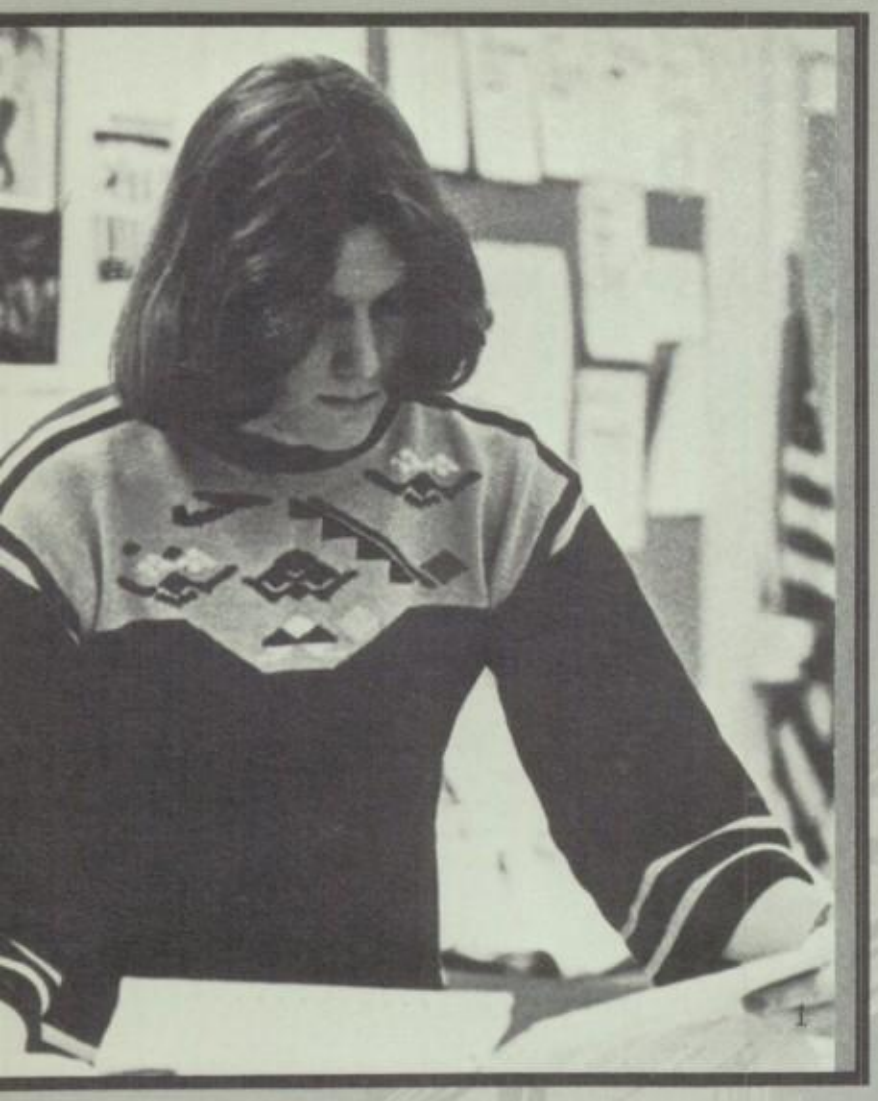
"Now We Bid Farewell to Our World"



1,2- Seniors Kandy Syrkel and Ruth Ann Scott acted as Editors on the 76-77 "Hoofbeats" Yearbook.

I am convinced that by following the theme "Welcome To Our World" we have been able to show all aspects of North: Transportation, Good Times, Athletics, Education, Expressions, and Friends.

This year at North we gained two new administrators, four new words on our stadium, one new scoreboard, nine new athletic coaches, one new wrought-iron fence, a remodeled library, a semi-weekly North High News, a new attendance and tardy policy, and the FCA. Yet we lost one giant Mustang from our auditorium, the best auto mechanics teacher, 365 Seniors, and most importantly of all, the GREATEST Yearbook Staff ever!

The students who actually produced this yearbook were in noncompliance with Title IX. Kandy (We make neat yearbooks, don't we? I knew we could do it.") Rochelle (Sometimes the perfect gift to give is a cheery little smile.) Cathy (Your turn is next.) Diane (After 12 years of knowing you, I never knew you could write such great copy.) Janet (I wish our softball team was as good as the layouts you did this year.) Kathy (My favorite cheerleader and Christian friend). Becky (I love all the little things you did for us that were so important.) Debb (We couldn't have had a better artist.) And Mrs. Fields (The LITTLE PRINCE will always be my favorite!)

We successfully completed this book with the male point of view; our photographers. Henry (From white Impala to Orange Pinto.) Dan (The only photographer I know who can speak three languages fluently, including Gypsy; may it live forever!) And Karl (most of his work seemed to be of girls, hmmm.)

A word of thanks also goes to Martin Sepulveda, who helped make the sports section so great.

Although this book does not cover the entire school year, I hope we will all be able to let it act as a summary of both good and bad times during our '76 - '77 year at North.

For man's illusion given
The smiles of joy, the tears of woe,
Deceitful shine, deceitful flow, -
There's nothing true but heaven.

You are a super sweet guy. I hope you stay that way & keep your smile & your neat blue eyes. Good luck.

Martin,

Sure I kid you a lot but you know I'm just kidding. I have a lot of admiration for you. You're a hell of guy, and I'll always regard you highly as a good friend and adviser. It's too bad we didn't kill back but we gave her a lot of hell and pain. Stay close to God, take out five women and shoot out at all your goals.

Martin,

It would be good to see you in jail. I hope the state's attorney throws the book, makes a real case out of it. Steal that car, kidnap a real live person and then rape her. Better yet, kill her. Shame on you.
